The ECOLES project sets out to stimulate and improve students' economic, consumer literacy, raise the level of achievement of basic skills (literacy, numeracy and basic digital skills) and awareness on their rights as European consumers, and in parallel to provide trainers and teachers of various related disciplines with effective tools to convey important messages and concepts of the market. The Learning to learn competence is central, as it supports the acquisition of all key competencies through various learning activities.

The Kick-off for the Transnational Partners Meeting of the ECOLES project was initially scheduled to take place in Bulgaria, but due to Covid-19 restrictions this was not possible. Therefore, in order to officially begin the project, a virtual Kick-off meeting was held online on the 17th of December 2020. The main result as seen from the evaluation of the Kick Off meeting is that the partners are satisfied with it and the implementation of the project will continue under good conditions setting the basis for a fruitful collaboration.
